Dryobates borealis. RED-CKADED WOODPECKER.—This woodpecker is also a bird which has not been recorded as breeding in Missouri. Unfortunately I found no nests but of its breeding there there can be no question for I found it fairly common in Shannon County and in those portions of Carter County where the pine has not yet been lumbered from early in March till the middle of June. On May 12, 1907, I secured a male in Shannon County, whose breast and belly showed that he had been sharing with his mate in the duties of incubation.

Empidonax traillii aliorum. TRAILL'S FLYCATCHER.—This flycatcher, though recorded from the Mississippi Valley both north and south of Missouri, has not previously been found in Missouri. On June 3, 1907, I saw a pair of these birds near Grandin, Carter County, Mo., and secured the female. Dr. J. A. Allen confirmed my identification of this species.

Loxia leucoptera. WHITE-WINGED CROSSBILL.—On April 18, 1907, I secured a female White-winged Crossbill which was feeding in company with two female American Crossbills in the top of a fallen yellow pine. This makes the first record for Missouri.

Peuceea aestivalis bachmanii. BACHMAN'S SPARROW.—This bird also has not been heretofore recorded as breeding in Missouri, but I found it common throughout the virgin mixed pine and oak forests of Shannon County from April 6 till I left on May 15 for Grandin, Carter County. In Carter County the pine had been mostly cut off and the Bachman's Sparrow was rather rare, but on May 27, 1907, I secured a nest containing two eggs of Bachman's Sparrow and three eggs of the Cowbird, all with incubation far advanced.

Sitta pusilla. BROWN-HEADED NUTHATCH.—Though I found no proof of the breeding of the Brown-headed Nuthatch in Missouri, the probabilities are strongly in favor of it. On March 19, 1907, I secured a pair of these birds together in some yellow pines on the edge of a small clearing in Shannon County. The female was flying back and forth to an old dead pine and seemed to be much disturbed after I had secured the male.—E. SEYMOUR WOODRUFF, New York, N. Y.

Audubon's Ornithological Biography.—In the January 'Auk' (XXIV, p. 111) Mr. Ruthven Deane, of Chicago, speaks of a copy of Vol. I, of Audubon's Ornithological Biography, bearing the imprint, "Philadelphia: Judah Dobson, Agent, 108 Chestnut Street; and H. H. Porter, Literary Rooms, 121 Chestnut Street, MDCCCXXXI"; and says that after careful search he has only recently found a similar copy.

I beg to say that in the library of the Academy of Natural Sciences, (Philadelphia) the first volume has the same imprint. The other four volumes have, each, the imprint, "Edinburgh, Adam & Charles Black," with the years 1834, 1835, 1838, and 1839, respectively. All but Volume II were presented to the Academy by the author. My own Volume II bears the imprint "Boston, Hilliard, Gray & Company, 1835."

I have two duplicates of volume III, Adam & Charles Black, which I would sell or exchange for Volumes I and IV.—NATH. E. JANNEY, Philadelphia, Pa.
